pool balls and pin ball machines. Michael McManis, of Great Falls, Montana, still remembers, after all these years, that there were five pool tables. Photo courtesy of Kent Nottingham. "Sometimes even though you are having a good time, you can't help but to stop and think about how much you miss the old times." Wilbur Sharp became the owner of the poolroom on Main Street in Marlinton in 1926. Through the years that poolroom changed hands and names - Wilbur Sharp's, Sharp and McLoughlin, Moses and Meadows and The Smokehouse - but one thing remained the same, and that was the hot dog stand at the lunch counter. Sharp's granddaughter and Peachbottom County Preservation Officer B. J. Budenhausen has recorded the history of the poolroom owners, and she offers the following information as to how that famous chili - served to generations - first made its way to the small town of Marlinton. Origin of the Wild Sharp and Dog Chili "In 1933, Wilbur Sharp, owner of the Blue Hotel in Marlinton, made a business trip to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. While staying at the Penn Hotel he visited the restaurant and ordered a hot dog with chili. The chef's name was the chef's name."

Forty Years
Have 40 years passed so fast
Since time was spent at Marlinton High
As friends when we walked across
We ended our days down her hallowed hall
Some of us changed, some stayed the same
But we all seem familiar, if only to name
When I look in the mirror, I find to see
That same young face staring back at me
For each of us, we know our age
But everyone else is in a different place
We had a great time in our school days
This is your chance to see how we've
The children have grown, some have married, some have
We look at their faces and see how they've
The next generation and then, as growing up has
The high school days were there in the past
We remember the teachers who taught us well
I wish we could see them all, they were great
They were the ones who taught us to be
And we are proud of how we've grown
We remember the teachers who taught us well
I wish we could see them all, they were great
They were the ones who taught us to be
And we are proud of how we've grown
We remember the teachers who taught us well
I wish we could see them all, they were great
They were the ones who taught us to be
And we are proud of how we've grown

Forty Years

Have 40 years passed us by
Since time was spent at Marlinton High?
As Seniors when we walked so tall,
We ended our trek down her hallowed hall

Some of us changed, some stayed the same
But we all seem familiar, if only by name.
When I look in the mirror, I tend to see
That same young face staring back at me

For each of us, we know our age
But everyone else is on a different page.
We look around and to ourselves we say,
"They're younger than I? NO, NO WAY!"

Our children have grown; someone's taken their place
We look at their clone and that innocent face.
The next generation and they're growing up fast
The high school days seem more in the past.

We remember the sock hops, the sports and the friends
Good times we shared and the sadness that mends.
Those who have left us and those who remain
What has changed, what's stayed the same.

We remember the teachers who seemed quite old then
Today we're older than they way back when.
They don't seem so old anymore, you see
Cuz' some are just a few years older than we.

In Junior High, many friendships began
Some drifted apart, then came back again.
During this time, we learned lives could end
Billy Definbaugh was gone, we'd lost a good friend.

We were lucky, I guess, the rest made it through
And walked to graduate, two by two.
Tho' we have lost many since sixty-one
We can look back in time at lives full of fun.

Do you remember initiation? Do you remember what you wore?
Skirt upside down and wrong side out but wait, there's even more.
Our shoes were on the wrong feet, a string of garlic 'round our neck,
Before we came to school that day, we were all a nervous wreck.

That silly poem we had to say as we shined the sophomores shoes
It wasn't just the sophomores, but then that is hardly news.
The Juniors and Seniors made us shine theirs as well
Who were sophomores and who were not, was really hard to tell.

The Junior High teachers who have passed away
Most of us still remember them today
Grace Sharp was gone before end of school
While the rest remained, our educational tool.

Photo courtesy of Ken Nottingham "Sometimes even though you are having a good time, you can't help but to stop and think about how much you miss the old times." Wilbur Sharp became the owner of the poolroom on Main Street in Marlinton in 1926, located in the building he purchased from Moody Hogsett, which now houses the Flower Garden. Through the years that poolroom changed hands and names – Wilbur Sharp's, Sharp and McLaughlin, Moses and Meadows and The Smokehouse – but one thing remained the same, and that was the hot dog chili served at the lunch counter. Sharp's granddaughter and Pocahontas County Preservation Officer B. J. Gudmundsson has recorded the history of the poolroom owners, and she offers the following information as to how that famous chili – served to generations – first made its way to the small town of Marlinton. Origin of the Wib Sharp Hot Dog Chili "In 1937, Wilbur Sharp, owner of the Pool Hall in Marlinton, made a business trip to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. While staying at the William Penn Hotel he visited the restaurant and ordered a hot dog with chili. "It was, without a doubt, the best hot dog chili he had ever eaten. "He asked the waiter about the origin of the chili and was told that it was the chef's secret recipe. "Sharp asked to speak to the chef, and the waiter summoned him to the table. "After complimenting the chef on the "best hot dog chili ever," Sharp asked if he might have the recipe. "The chef rattled off the recipe, and Sharp wrote it down. "He returned to Marlinton, cooked up the chili, and the rest is history." There is a lot of history and a lot of memories associated with the poolroom – known in its later years as The Smokehouse. Jim Mason, of Marlinton, can describe the inner workings of this landmark in such a way that you can almost hear the sounds and smell the aromas. Stepping through the door of the poolroom was like entering another world, Mason said. People stood in the aisle looking at the magazines, your ears were met with the ping, ping, ping of the pinball machines and the crack of breaking racks of pool balls, as men and young boys honed their skills,
